CALCULATING YOUR COST OF ATTENDANCE

The estimated expenses on the previous page are the minimum funding levels the average student needs in order to attend Colorado State University. We are only able to create an immigration document for you after you show the minimum funding level required. Your actual expenses at CSU may vary according to your living arrangements, major, marital status and lifestyle. For the most accurate estimate of the cost of your program, please refer to the CSU tuition calendar: <http://tuition.colostate.edu/Main.aspx>.

Differential Tuition

Differential tuition is tuition charged to students according to the specific courses they take after they have reached 60 credit hours. The College of Business charges differential tuition after 30 credit hours.

Those 60 (or 30) credits include any credits the student transferred from a previous institution, such as credits obtained at one of our strategic partner universities.

Differential tuition is not assessed for any student who is classified as a freshman. Students who enter CSU with enough transfer credits to be classified as upperclassmen will be charged differential tuition in their first semester.

The average semester-long course at CSU is three credits. Most students at CSU will not reach 60 credit hours until they have reached their third year of study. College of Business students generally reach 30 credit hours in their second year of study.

Please visit the Office of Financial Aid website for more information about differential tuition: <https://financialaid.colostate.edu/differential-tuition/>

Special Course and Program Fees

The tuition and fees estimates on the previous page are base tuition and fees for all students. Some classes and programs require additional special course and program fees. You can find additional information about those fees on the Office of Financial Aid website: <https://financialaid.colostate.edu/special-course-and-program-fees/>.
